

The original Deno supporters were based online via Ebay Community Family, Home & Garden and many friendships, both online and in real life have been made. Now a few years on, it would be easy to wonder why fundraising is still needed, Deno looks so well now doesn't he? However, due to the state he was in, he has still has several major and ongoing health problems, regular remedial dental & farrier work is needed and the sarcoids are a life threatening ongoing concern. Visitors welcome by arrangement, please contact Frank Fryer. Deno is a good cause, entirely reliant on being supported for his living expenses & veterinary care, so would you like to join us and be a Deno Defender?

Come on Defenders
Join the good fight,
I don't want people
Worrying all night.
I cost a lot
I know it's true,
But really I'm worth it
And need help from YOU.
With love and thanks from Deno.

Hello,
I'm Deno.

Deno's Story of Hope.

Deno is a very lucky horse who was rescued on Valentine's Day 2005, just before his 6th birthday in March.

His story began when he was found shivering in a muddy field with no shelter or rugs to protect him from the winter weather. His jaw had been broken,(unable to eat properly, he was literally starving to death), he had a very badly damaged hoof, multiple small injuries, sores and ulcerating sarcoids (a kind of skin cancer), major liver damage and he was being bullied by the other horses who sensed his weakness and that he was dying.

When Deno was rescued, he was so sick that he barely had the strength to stagger into the horse box to travel to his new home. His long & expensive recovery began and gradually he improved in health & confidence, and in spite of what he had been through, he has an indomitable spirit and an incredible capacity to love and trust people,

In 2009, Deno moved from Cornwall to Surrey and took the move well, helped by living with a gentle pony called Cuddles who put up with this great large lump of horse sharing with her, as the Fryer family welcomed Deno to their home. Sadly just before Christmas Cuddles was found to have cancer and was put to sleep to prevent suffering. Both the human family and Deno were naturally devastated and after a frantic search, a new companion was found to help Deno with his stress related anxiety of being on his own.

So now Posh joins the ongoing story and is lucky enough to benefit from the Fryer family's knowledge and determination to get her well, fit and happy as she was also rescued from going to slaughter and was in a similar state to Deno when rescued. So yes, we do still need all the help possible for these very special horses, who enjoy every day and live life to the full.
